CODEX'S NEXT JUMP

In collaboration with Next Jump, CodeX have increased the number of Next Jump lessons from 1 to 5 every week, averaging an outreach of around 600 students through the Next Jump's Community Online Academy platform.

On Saturday 2nd May 2020, CodeX featured in Saturday Times and will be running their first free online taster session on Wednesday 20th May for those interested in learning how to code on the 'Python for Beginners' course.

SANKOFA TO EMPOWER

SANkofa SANitation have rebranded into Empower, changing the project's focus onto creating reusable sanitary pads to be manufactured and sold in Ghana. The project plans to empower local women entrepreneurs to sell these reusable pads and contribute towards creating real change for women in their communities. These practical solutions will transform the daily lives of young girls in Ghana, preventing them from missing out on their education due to embarrassment about menstruation.

COVID-19 FOODPRINT

The Foodprint store in Sneinton has continued to stay open every week, with a fantastic response from volunteers and a fully virtual volunteer induction process.

Foodprint received funding from the Ford Fund Covid-19 College Challenge to address COVID-19 issues in the community and have planned the first redistribution of food and hand sanitizer to Nottingham Hospice. Two successful redistribution runs to retirement villages using Capital One funding to support residents have also been completed. In addition, Foodprint received 3rd place for the Sodexo 'Creating a Better Tomorrow and Food Sustainability' competition.

To meet the growing demand from the Coronavirus outbreak, the Foodprint's food redistribution network of suppliers has now been expanded by 40 supermarkets.

BREAD BREW'D GONE NATIONAL

Despite all pubs being closed, The Bread Brew'd Project's partner brewery, Magpie, have launched a new delivery 'knock and drop' service. This has enabled The Bread Brew'd Project to continue selling cans and mini kegs, not only within Nottingham, but now nationally across the UK.

The Bread Brew'd Project's newest beer is set to launch in the coming weeks – The Breakfast Brew Coffee Porter, brewed from surplus bread and coffee grounds. It was originally planned for distribution in pubs, but Magpie will now bottle and sell it nationally through their online website.

Enactus have made the decision to host the Enactus World Cup 2020 online, live streaming the virtual event on 8-11th September 2020, where Enactus Nottingham will be representing the United Kingdom as Enactus UK National Champions 2020.
